

Portrait Photos Project

Decide what three students you will go out and take pictures of. Then, devise five interview questions you can ask them via a recording. The recording should ask them things that describe who they are. You could ask about their goals, hobbies, etc. When you go out and take pictures, ask the questions first, and then decide how you want to take shots based on their answers. For example, if they are a football player, maybe take a picture where it looks like they're catching a football. The point is to be as creative as possible. Use different angles, lighting, framing, etc.
